Questions and Answers:

How many hours are the weddings you typically photograph?

We have photographed hour-long civic weddings and ones that started at 8am and wrapped up at 6 pm. But normally we are photographing for between 5 and 8 hours.

How many photos do you normally take at a wedding?

Although we do not guarantee any number, we always do our best to take as many great photos as possible. We believe that out of that number, about 200 should be post-processed. The remainder we deliver as original photos, unprocessed, the way they are taken.

Why do you not deliver printed photos?

It is a general wedding photography practice that photos are delivered to the client in electronic form (on a CD or DVD disk) so the client have the choice to choose prints and where to print them at their own discretion.

If there is a preference to deliver selected or all photos as printed-finished photos, this can be done in agreement with the client at an additional cost.

How long after our wedding day will we receive our photo?

Processing your photos to make them look their best takes some time. I promise a week to 10 days in the contract. It could be faster depending on the number of photos selected.

Do your wedding service include printing rights?

For all wedding photography services the copyrights and any intellectual property is property of the client. I will deliver large resolution photos on a CD or DVD that are ready to be printed.
